Madrid, Feb. 3.

THE 3d Instant an Express arriv'd here, sent by the Duke d'Arcos from Moncada, with a Letter in which he represented to the King the Difficulties of forming and carrying on the Siege of the City of Valencia, there being at Moncada but 4000 Men regular Troops and 1000 Militia; concluding that he having held a Council of War, all the General Officers gave their Opinion it would be best to retire to Requena and wait there for Reinforcements. Upon the Receipt of this Letter the King caus'd the Council to be assembled, and the Result of their Debates was that the Siege should however be undertaken; and the Count de las Torres is gone to Moncada to take upon him the Command in chief of the Troops there and form the said Siege. In the mean time we have Advice, the Garrison and Burghers in Valencia are determin'd to defend the Place to the last Extremity. The Duke d'Arcos is to come to Court the King having made him a Privy Councillor. The Friends of the Marquis de Leganez have prevail'd with the King of France to intercede with our King, that the said Marquis may be tried according to Law, for the Crimes imputed to him; and the Count of Palma has presented a Memorial to his Majesty on this Subject.

Rome, Feb. 6. The 31st of last Month the Jesuites proceeded to the Election of a new General of their Order. The Competitors were reduc'd to Four, viz. Father Alamanno of Florence, Father Imperiali of Genoa, Father Tolomei of Sienna, and Father Tamburini of Reggio in the Dutchy of Modena: And the Voices being collected, it appear'd the Majority was for Father Tamburini. Then the whole Assembly went in Procession to the Church of the Jesuites, where the new General was proclaim'd, and Te Deum was sung to Musick. The French Jesuites had secretly engag'd the Spanish Jesuites to vote for Father Dumbarton a Frenchman, who is Confessor to Philip V. but the Intrigue being discover'd the Day before the Election, the Italian Jesuites bestir'd themselves so effectually that Night, that they brought the Spaniards over to their Parry and balk'd the French, who appear to be not a little mortified at it.
